RANDOM RANTS, RAVES & THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

■ Where Can I Watch "A Charlie Brown Thanksgiving"?

The fascinating tales of the lovable loser Charlie Brown and his ragtag group of friends have served as a holiday tradition since CBS first aired A Charlie Brown Christmas back in 1965. The rights to the beloved cartoon TV specials moved from CBS to ABC for almost two decades (2001-19) before moving to PBS for a few years, and then eventually landing on the streaming service Apple TV+. To handle the backlash from viewers attached to the move to a streamer, Apple TV+ has established somewhat of a tradition now and allows everyone to stream a few of the shows for free. It's the same deal this year, where A Charlie Brown Thanksgiving will be available to stream for free on Saturday, Nov. 23 and Sunday, Nov. 24; and A Charlie Brown Christmas is free to watch on Saturday, Dec. 14 and Sunday, Dec. 15. Enjoy!

■ "Spartacus" To Return To Starz

The next bloody chapter of the popular franchise series Spartacus is underway in New Zealand. The new 10-episode series Spartacus: House of Ashur is being described as a "history-bending, erotic, thrilling, roller-coaster experience." The series poses the question: What if Ashur, played by fan favorite Nick Tarabay, hadn't died on Mount Vesuvius at the end of Spartacus: Vengeance? A scenario plenty of fans will love to see play out. And the series also questions what if he had been gifted the gladiator school once owned by Batiatus in return, aiding the Romans in killing Spartacus and

ROCKY AND BULLWINKLE

And now here's something we hope you'll really like! The animated adventures of Rocket J. Squirrel and Bullwinkle J. Moose originally aired from Nov. 19, 1959-July 10, 1961, on ABC, and then from Sept. 24, 1961-June 27, 1964, on NBC.

NIGHT GALLERY

Rod Serling followed up The Twilight Zone with this more horror-focused anthology series that debuted as an NBC movie pilot on Nov. 8, 1969. That film featured three stories, including one starring Joan Crawford and directed by a young Steven Spielberg. Night Gallery was picked up as a series that ran from 1970-73.

putting an end to the slave rebellion? In addition to Tarabay, a few notable cast members include Lucy Lawless and Outlander's Graham McTavish.

■ John Steinbeck's "East Of Eden" Netflix Update

Netflix has been taking its time on adapting John Steinbeck's classic novel East of Eden (it's been over two years now), but the streamer has officially ordered a limited-series adaptation. Florence Pugh (Little Women) will star in the seven-episode series that explores the multigenerational saga of the Trask family from the perspective of the standout female character Cathy Ames (Pugh). Zoe Kazan, whose grandfather Elia Kazan directed the 1955 film adaptation starring James Dean, will adapt the classic novel serving as writer, and co-executive producer and co-showrunner with Jeb Stuart. "In the process of bringing this family saga to life, the resonance of my own familial connection to the material has not been lost on me," Kazan told

Netflix. "But it is Steinbeck's writing — personal, shocking, profound and free — that has kept me enthralled by East of Eden since I first read the book as a young teen."

45 YEARS AGO

SESAME STREET

It's been a sunny day for kids everywhere since this iconic children's program debuted to sweep the clouds away on Nov. 10, 1969. It aired until 1970 on NET, a precursor to PBS, and has continued on that latter public service while also airing on HBO from 2016-20 and streaming on Max since 2020.

SALEM'S LOT

Stephen King's vampire novel has been adapted three times now (most recently with a Max miniseries in October 2024), but it would be hard for anyone to top the nightmarish first adaptation: director Tobe Hooper's two-night CBS miniseries that aired Nov. 17 and 24, 1979.

FIRST PAT SUMMERALL/ JOHN MADDEN NFL BROADCAST

Although they would not formally begin their long-running stint as a famous NFL broadcasting team until 1981, Pat Summerall and John Madden worked together for the first time when Madden filled in for Summerall's usual booth partner on Nov. 25, 1979, and the duo called CBS' broadcast of a Minnesota Vikings/Tampa Bay Buccaneers game.

AMERICA'S FUNNIEST HOME VIDEOS

From its debut on Nov. 26, 1989, in an era when contestants submitted videotapes recorded using big, boxy cameras held on their shoulders, and continuing into an age of handheld digital shoots using phones and GoPros, this humorous clip series has been an ABC Sunday night staple hosted by numerous personalities, most notably Bob Saget, Tom Bergeron and Alfonso Ribeiro.

Jake Paul

Mike Tyson

PROBLEM CHILD VS. BADDEST MAN

A 27-year-old YouTuber is fighting in a sanctioned pro boxing match against a 58-year-old former heavyweight champion in the home stadium of the Dallas Cowboys and streaming on Netflix. Welcome to the bizarre age of boxing in the 21st century.

Jake Paul stepped into the ring in 2018 as something of a social media stunt. Since then, he has a 10-1 professional record facing mostly former MMA fighters and journeyman boxers. Audiences tuning in hoping to see Paul get obliterated in the squared circle have so far been disappointed.

Mike Tyson was an explosive champion who in the 1980s and '90s headlined some of the biggest blockbuster bouts in history. His last win as a pro came in 2003, and he's fought in several exhibition bouts since, including an eight-round draw vs. Roy Jones Jr. in 2020.

Paul vs. Tyson was originally scheduled for July and then postponed when Tyson suffered health problems that required rest. The fight now takes place live Nov. 15 at AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas. It's more circus spectacle than sweet science, but the Netflix audience will be huge. The co-main event has a legitimate title fight with Amanda Serrano challenging undisputed super lightweight champion Katie Taylor in a rematch.

Netflix also airs Countdown: Paul vs. Tyson, a three-part docuseries premiering Nov. 7 that chronicles both camps' preparations for the bout. — Ryan A. Berenz

5 QUESTIONS WITH MANU BENNETT

Spartacus and Arrow alum Manu Bennett serves as host of CBS' adventure series The Summit (Wednesdays), which follows 16 strangers across the Southern Alps as they try to win a share of $1 million, which they are carrying in their backpacks. "The Summit is the perfect metaphor for testing one's ceiling of ability," Bennett tells us. "Watching people break through that ceiling is hugely motivating and rewarding." The New Zealander recently caught up with us and answered our "5 Questions."

1 While trekkers are tasked with some jaw-dropping challenges, how do you watch what they've been going through? As part of preparing for The Summit, I was taken through the course and even though I'm very athletic I was challenged by the various obstacles. It's the actual mountain Sir Edmund Hillary trained on before ascending Mount Everest. Through a camera lens it's hard to capture the true awesomeness of this mountain ... I believe we captured not only the thrill but also the terror of our contestants ascending to the mountain. We film upon the same terrain in New Zealand that Peter Jackson shot The Lord of the Rings, except on our show "My precious!" is $1 million.

2 What has surprised you so far in regards to people you may have underestimated? You never know the true grit of a person until they are put to the test. The Summit forces people to show grit and determination, but they also must have the ability to blend in with a team whilst having a game plan to succeed at one's personal goal, which is to win their share of $1 million.

3 Do you think the emotional side of eliminating people becomes more difficult? Elimination is probably the hardest thing to experience. Like the harrowing opening scene of the film Cliffhanger, you let go of someone's hand. Ultimately contestants fall, one by one.

4 You've overcome incredible hardships in your own life, having lost both your mother and brother in a car accident that also left you in a coma. Where do you channel your strength and perseverance from? We all learn from adversity. That's life. You get up or you stay down. I know my mother and brother would be proud, and I had a few conversations with them whilst ascending the summit.

5 Tell us about a time when you were starstruck. I was invited to the premiere of a Martin Scorsese film in New York. As I stepped onto the red carpet and into the camera pit, two limos arrived with the stars, Leonardo DiCaprio, Margot Robbie, Jonah Hill and Matthew McConaughey. I've never seen 100 cameras turn away from me so fast, but I too was starstruck. At the afterparty I met Martin Scorsese and to my surprise he and his family were fans of Spartacus, and he spent a few minutes telling me how much he appreciated the show. I was a huge fan of his and was blown away that he was a fan of my portrayal of Crixus.

MONTH1 A CINDERELLA
CHRISTMAS BALLFriday, Nov. 29 on GREAT AMERICAN FAMILY
ORIGINAL FILM!

"I love being a part of a network that focuses on families being together, and characters trying to do their best despite whatever their circumstances are," shares Danica McKellar. "Great American Family movies are more than just an escape. ... They are a way to model behavior that is aspirational and to remind people that humans can be good and be life-affirming in that way. ... Just hope and happiness."

From The Wonder Years' Winnie Cooper to bestselling author and internationally recognized mathematician, McKellar exemplifies that mantra onscreen and off. In her latest role, she stars as a dance teacher from Chicago whose search for her biological father leads her to a country in Europe where she ends up getting a job teaching a prince (Oliver Rice) how to waltz. "He's very reluctant to learn a dance, and I don't know why he's such an impossible student," she tells.

Taking a short break while in Iceland on vacation (she was going horseback riding after we talked), the kindhearted McKellar shares more.

The former Dancing With the Stars fave seems to have found her niche: "I love it. It's great exercise. It's fun. It's artistic, it's challenging. ... This is my second dance movie in a short amount of time. In fact, Gleb Savchenko, who was in Swinging Into Romance, my dance movie last year, choreographed the waltz in this movie."

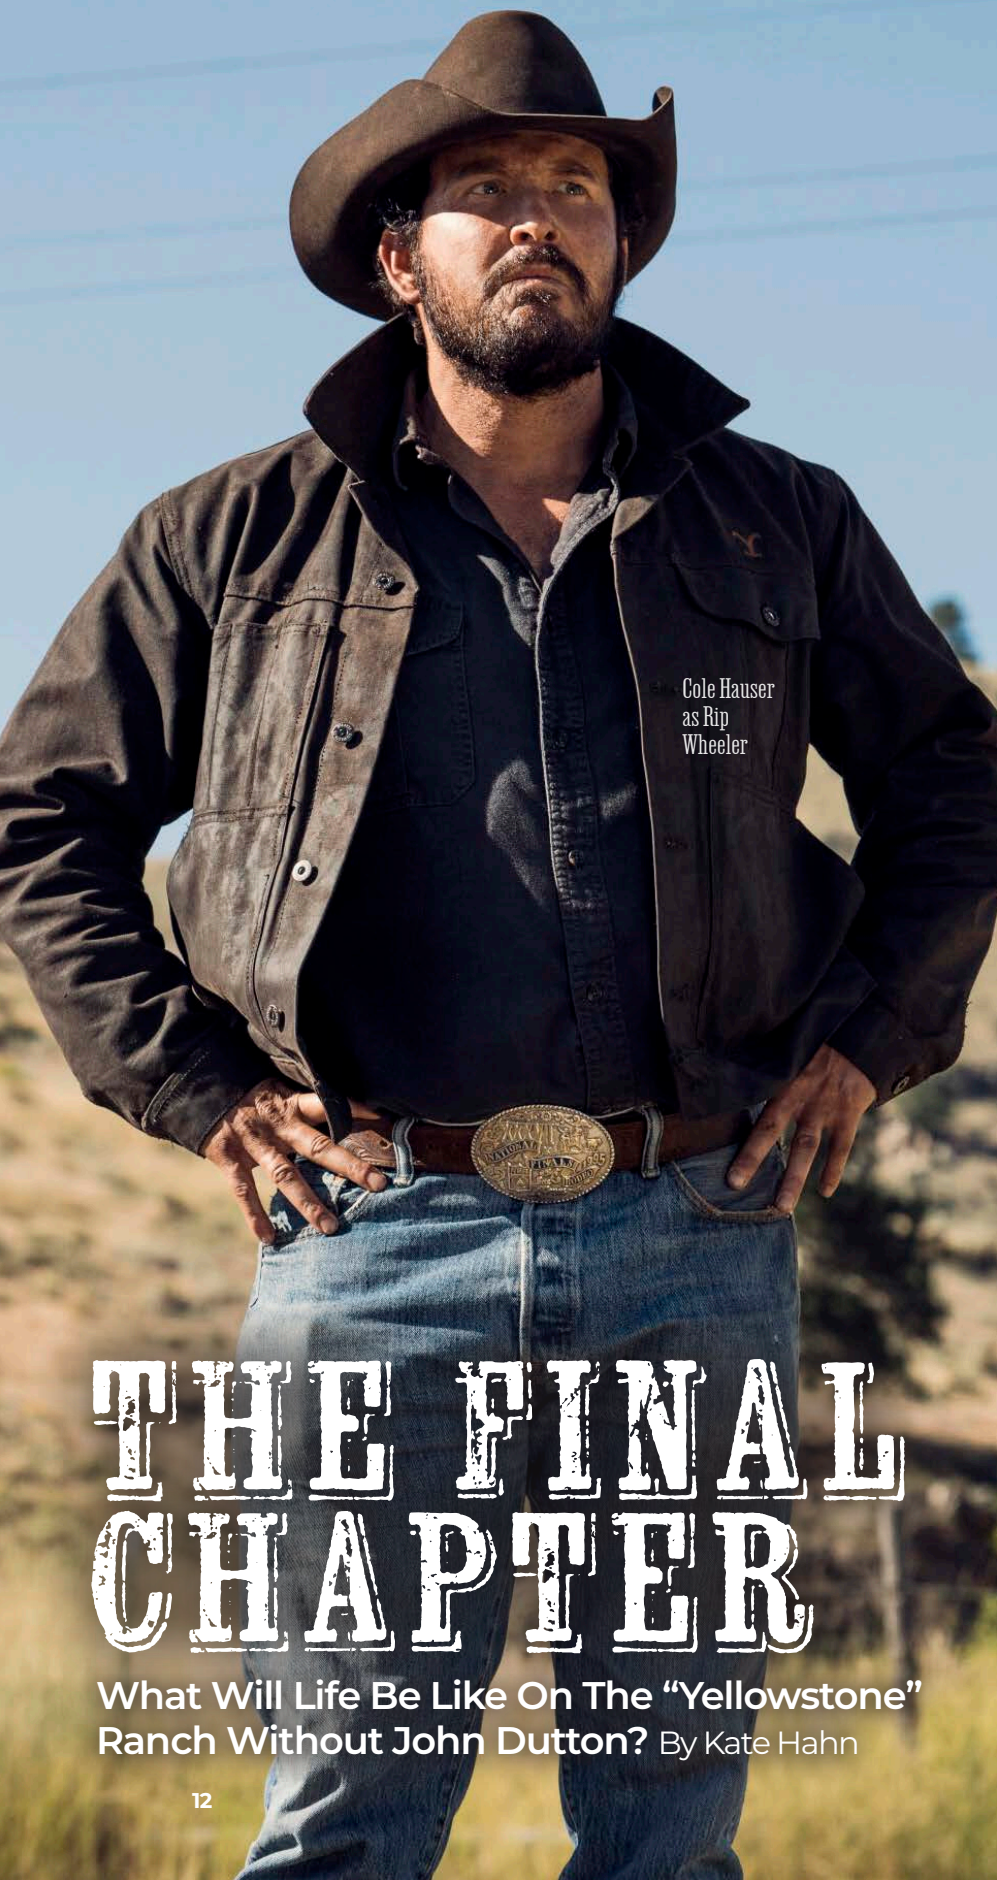

Oliver Rice
and Danica
McKellar

Making a career first: "I have contributed to most of the Great American Family movies that I've done to some extent, but this is the first one that I was so involved with, including coming up with the original story. I actually have a writing credit on it."

Finding the perfect dress: "The dress is silver and sparkly, and it is an actual legit pro waltz ballroom dance dress that I found at a trunk sale at one of the places where I take ballroom dance lessons. My husband bought it for me last Christmas. ... So it is mine and I got to wear it for the film."

Writing books on math for the past 15 years: "I've got a whole line of math books at McKellarMath.com. I have another one coming out I think at the end of next year. I love making math entertaining because math is so useful and it helps kids in so many ways."

About that ending of The Wonder Years: "I don't think anybody was happy with how it ended. First, it ended a year too early. We all thought that we should have graduated from high school. ... The timing of the cancellation worked out pretty well for me because that is when I graduated from high school in real life and I could go to UCLA for a fresh start. But in terms of the show, I definitely would've loved one more year." — Barb Oates

THE FINAL CHAPTER

What Will Life Be Like On The “Yellowstone” Ranch Without John Dutton? By Kate Hahn

2 YELLOWSTONE
Sundays beginning
Nov. 10 on PARAMOUNT
NETWORK
MIDSEASON PREMIERE!

“Cowboys don’t say goodbye. They say ‘see ya later,’” promised stoic ranch manager Rip Wheeler (Cole Hauser) in the fourth season finale of Yellowstone. But the contemporary Western saga about the rich cattle ranching Dutton clan — of which Rip was an honorary member even before he married his longtime love, badass Beth Dutton (Kelly Reilly) — will ride into the sunset with the second half of the fifth and final installment starting Nov. 10.

“This show this year is about picking up the pieces and putting them back together and trying to move on,” Hauser tells us. “My storyline is totally different. Kelly’s as well. [Even] the opening visuals of the show are totally different.”

The most glaring change is the absence of Rip’s boss/mentor and Beth’s dad, the stern ranch patriarch and widower John Dutton played by Oscar winner Kevin Costner, who is not returning for the final six episodes. The show was driven by John’s violent defense of the massive Montana ranch from developers and the local tribe, and the pressure to continue the Dutton legacy he put on his children: loyal rainmaker Beth, lawyer Jamie (Wes Bentley), who eventually turned against his kin, and former Navy SEAL Kayce (Luke Grimes).

Without John, “you’re going to see a side of Rip that you haven’t seen. He’s running the ranch, being supportive of Beth, helping Kayce, doing all the things that John would want. He takes the responsibility very seriously, and I love that about this year for him,” Hauser reveals.

Costner’s shadow will still loom large. His Hollywood star power established buzz for the Taylor Sheridan-produced series before it premiered in June 2018 on the then-little-known Paramount Network. The drama struck a chord with audiences, and ratings soared. According to Nielsen, the first half of the fifth installment was the most-watched scripted series on television, averaging 11.6 million weekly viewers. So far, there are four A-list-packed spinoffs: 1883, 1923, and, coming up, 1944 and The Madison.

But if Costner pulled in early publicity, a major draw of Yellowstone soon became Rip and Beth's love story. The last time we saw them, in the midseason finale in January 2023, the newlyweds said farewell as he and other hands headed to Texas with the herd. She stayed behind as chief-of-staff for her dad, reluctantly serving as the governor of Montana. But then, in a brutal backstab, attorney general Jamie moved to impeach John. The two siblings, who have decades of bad blood, separately vowed to kill each other. Bentley has said that this Jamie is "the angriest he's ever been."

Before their deadly battle begins, expect some sweetness. "[Rip and Beth] are two souls that have a hard time being away from each other. Beth doesn't like the idea of me being down in Texas. She pulls a pretty cool trick and finds me down in the middle of nowhere," Hauser reveals. "It's beautiful. It's a wonderful moment."

But Beth will soon get down to business. Reilly has said that without John, it's even more important to her character to keep the ranch and she'll go to war against Jamie. Rip will surely back her by any means necessary. After all, as a teen he murdered another cowboy who talked trash about Miss Dutton and he later killed alongside the Duttons, dumping enemies' bodies at a spot known as "the train station."

"Rip supports Beth through thick and thin. Part of the reason why there's such a great love for each other is that their support is unwavering. This year the real love and passion that they both have for each other, which you've seen in the past, is different. We're married, living together. It's a much tighter unit," says Hauser.

Team Beth Strengthens, As Kayce's Journey Begins

Beth's army will include Kayce's wife, Monica (Kelsey Asbille), a member of the Broken Rock tribe, which has clashed with the Duttons under Chief Thomas Rainwater (Gil Birmingham). "Monica is Team Beth. It's one of my favorite relationships on the show. They share a deep love and respect for each other. This season is no exception; Monica has her back," Asbille tells us.

Grimes has said that Kayce and Beth spend more time together than usual in these final episodes and it sounds like a powerful union. Asbille shares that the final episodes will put a focus on Kayce's journey. "Luke has always been a great partner in crime, and I'm excited to see him shine."

There's a chance that this couple, one descended from the Indigenous people and the other from white settlers, can help heal the conflict between their communities — a clash wider-ranging and longer-lasting than the Dutton siblings' civil war.

Rainwater Needs Friends

But there's internal upset at Broken Rock too, as Rainwater fights a pipeline project while staving off a challenge to his leadership. He'll need friends. "Rainwater's always operated that he will embrace his people and those who are allied with him. Kayce is obviously an ally that wants to try to do the right thing within the context of a family that's very dysfunctional," Birmingham says. "Whatever serves [Monica and Kayce] in a cultural sense and a peaceful sense — that's not necessarily associated with the [Dutton] family."

LIFE AFTER JOHN DUTTON

Kelsey Asbille

Gil Birmingham

Asbille adds that for Rainwater and Monica, "there are other ways of imagining the world that do not depend so much on oppositions as they do on cooperation."

So, is there an ending for Yellowstone where everybody wins? Sheridan reportedly has always known how the show would wrap up, and Grimes calls it "profound" and "perfect." Hauser reveals he was touched to his core by a simple scene where Rip is alone in the barn at sunrise.

The Duttons Need A New Day

Hauser promises all the battle-scarred characters' journeys will end in some kind of unity. "Taylor's done a great job again this year of bringing those people back together, even though they've gone through all these different paths to get to each other," Hauser says. "It ends the right way where everybody has a moment that Taylor has given them to appreciate what has happened."

Sam Heughan and Caitriona Balfe

3 OUTLANDER

Fridays beginning Nov. 22 on STARZ

MIDSEASON PREMIERE!

Even passionate soulmates can't go home again. That's what time-traveling 20th century doc Claire Fraser (Caitriona Balfe) and her Highlander husband Jamie Fraser (Sam Heughan) discover upon their return to 1778 Scotland in the second half of Season 7. "Things have shifted since they left and will never be the same," says exec producer Maril Davis. "It's bittersweet."

Firmly in the bitter category is a face from seasons past, Jamie's vindictive ex-wife, Laoghaire (Nell Hudson). Other returnees in these eight episodes include Jamie's uncle Dougal MacKenzie (Graham McTavish) and evil time-traveler Geillis Duncan (Lotte Verbeek). Both are long dead, but in a show about time travel, strange things are inevitable.

Back in 1980s Scotland, the Frasers' daughter Bree (Sophie Skelton) deals with her husband Roger (Richard Rankin) having gone back to the 1700s to find their son Jemmy (Blake Johnston Miller), kidnapped by Bree's duplicitous colleague Rob Cameron (Chris Fulton). They believe he took the child so the boy could lead him to a cache of stolen Jacobite gold. "Brianna is Mama Tiger," Davis says. camera crew tracks the staff of the regional titular hospital “in kind of Anywhere, USA,” says Ledgin. The personnel include long-suffering supervising nurse Alex (Fargo’s Allison Tolman), egotistical trauma surgeon Bruce (Josh Lawson, Superstore), newbie RN Matt (Jury Duty’s Mekki Leeper), ER doctor Ron (national treasure David Alan Grier) and bureaucratically backward executive director Joyce (The Goldbergs’ Wendi McLendon-Covey). And while plenty of laughs are drawn from an endless parade of injuries and illnesses, the show is not taking shots at medical professionals.

“When you talk to people who work in these spaces, they’re very practical and will tell you that you have to have a sense of humor when you work in the emergency department,” Ledgin notes. “You have to laugh or you will cry.”

So expect a ton of gallows humor, along with a healthy dose of heart and, given how many patients come in and out of ERs, a steady rotation of guest stars.

“I would say this [setting is] unique to most workplace comedies. Every bed is someone with one of the biggest stories of their life happening at any given time,” explains Ledgin. “Everyone in the hospital is having an experience they’re going to remember.”

And not all of them will have happy endings. Spitzer hints that even though the St. Denis team tries their best, they won’t be immune to tragedies. “We definitely don’t have a Dr. Death,” he laughs. “Our people are there for the right reasons, but they are real people.”

5 GET MILLIE BLACK

Mondays beginning Nov. 25 on HBO
NEW LIMITED SERIES!

“This is just another story about Jamaica ... a ghost story,” tells Millie-Jean Black at the start of this gripping five-episode limited series. “The Jamaica we immerse ourselves in across this series is not sand, sea and sex, but a bolder, darker version of the country never seen onscreen,” tells creator and executive producer Marlon James. “It’s about the long legacy of slavery, and colonialism, but also childhood trauma, cycles of abuse, and what happens when the demons of your past gang up to make a last stand against you.” The noir crime thriller first introduces us to a young Millie Black, who is shipped off to the U.K. by her abusive mother, heartbreakingly leaving her brother behind. Fast-forward years later and we meet a no-nonsense Millie-Jean Black (played by Britain’s Tamara Lawrance), who once worked as a top detective for Scotland Yard, but returns to Kingston to find her brother and work a missing persons case, while also confronting the ghosts of her past. Millie quickly finds herself on a quest to save a sister, and eventually find a man — the son of Jamaica’s richest family — who is somehow connected to Scotland Yard, a missing boy, a fake school, a violent gang and plenty more. The inimitable Millie-Jean Black may have exposed more than she bargained for. — Barb Oates

7 LEONARDO DA VINCI

Nov. 18 & 19 on PBS

Prolific documentarian Ken Burns is back with this two-part, four-hour film that he codirected with Sarah Burns and David McMahon, which explores the life and work of the titular 15th century polymath, who through his paintings and expansive writings proved to be one of humankind's most curious and innovative minds.

"Leonardo had a unique genius for inquiry," Ken Burns says, "aided by his extraordinary skills as an artist and scientist, that helps us better understand the natural world that we are part of and to appreciate more fully what it means to be alive and human."

"As we set out to explore Leonardo's life," adds Sarah Burns, "we realized that while he was very much a man of his time, he was also interested in something more universal. Leonardo was uniquely focused on finding connections throughout nature, something that strikes us as very modern today, but which, of course, has a long history."

Set against the rich and dynamic backdrop of Renaissance Italy, the film brings the artist's towering achievements to life through his prolific personal notebooks, primary and secondary accounts of his life, and on-camera interviews with modern scholars, artists, engineers, inventors and admirers.

One of those featured admirers is director Guillermo del Toro, who says near the beginning of the film that "the modernity of Leonardo is that he understands that knowledge and imagination are intimately related."

Leonardo da Vinci airs over two nights. In the first two-hour installment, "The Disciple of Experience," Leonardo apprentices as an artist and craftsman in Florence, where the Renaissance is in full bloom. He shows extraordinary talent but struggles to finish commissions. Later, in Milan, he paints a monumental fresco of the Last Supper that remains iconic.

"Painter-God," the second and final installment, follows Leonardo as he designs fanciful flying machines, studies light and shadow, investigates gravity, dissects cadavers, and pours the sum of his scientific and artistic knowledge into a portrait that would become the most famous painting on Earth: his Mona Lisa. — Jeff Pfeiffer

HOLIDAY TOUCHDOWN: A CHIEFS LOVE STORY

Saturday, Nov. 30 on HALLMARK CHANNEL

ORIGINAL FILM!

Inspired by Taylor Swift and her real-life romance with Travis Kelce, this fun holiday romp tells the story of a Kansas City Chiefs superfan named Alana Higman (Hunter King), whose family is a frontrunner to win the team's "Fan of the Year" contest. Derrick (Tyler Hynes), the director of fan engagement, is tasked with evaluating how Alana and her family stack up against the other two finalists. As the pair spend time together, it's clear there's a spark between them, but when her grandfather's vintage Chiefs good-luck winter hat goes missing, Alana begins to doubt everything she believed about fate, and even questions her future with Derrick. Cue the Christmas magic.

The movie was also filmed on location in Kansas City, Missouri, which was exciting for the cast, crew and locals alike, especially since it's the place where Hallmark first originated. "The salt-of-the-earth people you encounter on the crew, and spectators and people working in the background, just break your heart," shares Ed Begley Jr., who also costars. "They're so lovely."

"We've worked very much hand in hand with the Chiefs, with the NFL, and it's been a really just amazing process," adds SVP of Hallmark Media programming Samantha DiPippo. "I think when you see how many elements that we put from what we love about all these Christmas movies at Hallmark and what the Chiefs fandom has, it's a really beautiful story."

14 CHRISTMAS AT PLUMHILL MANOR

Saturday, Nov. 16 on LIFETIME
ORIGINAL FILM!

Former Extra and Access Hollywood host Maria Menounos' real life could be a storyline for her own holiday movie. The Greek actress met her husband, Keven Undergaro, about 20 years ago when he was making his first movie. Today the power pair has combined their love for making movies with their love of holidays in helping their new production company We Heart Holidays. Their first film debuts this month — Christmas at Plumhill Manor — and kicks off Lifetime's annual It's a Wonderful Lifetime movie event.

Menounos stars as Margot Stone, a New York architect who inherits a manor in London's countryside, where she is forced to leave the rigors of her busy career behind.

"She's a fish out of water, as this is the countryside in London, where people have different goals and dreams there," Menounos tells. "Seeing how they have all these fun events in town and everybody gets together and there's community, she's like, 'Wait, there's a whole other life that I could be living and it could be so much more fulfilling ... because it's not just about career and money.'"

The film's premise hits home with Menounos, who survived a nonmalignant brain tumor and has since retreated with her family to her oasis in Connecticut, surrounding herself with "good people and good conversation," eating from her garden, being at peace and slowing things down. "We grow up and we're taught to achieve. We're taught to succeed. We're taught to win, we're taught to get all A's and get a big job, make a lot of money. And when it comes to your health — your physical, your emotional, your spiritual health — that's not even a consideration until something happens."

She shares that message and self-help advice from doctors and industry experts in her podcast Heal Squad. And her love for the holidays, as well.

"It's a dream state when you get to watch people in their cozy flannels and they're having cocoa and they're with their families and it's everything that we want," she concludes. "I want people to know that dream can exist anytime you want it. We don't have to be stuck doing stuff we don't love. We can do so much out there. It exists." — Barb Oates

NBA CUP REFILL

The In-Season Tournament Gets Another Shot.

By Ryan A. Berenz

The L.A. Lakers' LeBron James claimed the first NBA Cup tournament MVP title

EMIRATES NBA CUP GROUPS

Western

A: Minnesota, L.A. Clippers, Sacramento, Houston, Portland

B: Oklahoma City, Phoenix, L.A. Lakers, Utah, San Antonio

C: Denver, Dallas, New Orleans, Golden State, Memphis

Eastern

A: New York, Orlando, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Charlotte

B: Milwaukee, Indiana, Miami, Toronto, Detroit

C: Boston, Cleveland, Chicago, Atlanta, Washington

The NBA introduced the In-Season Tournament last year to boost interest in the league and TV viewers during November and early December when sports fans have football on the top of their minds.

On the top of our minds: Would anyone care?

The players took it seriously (the $500,000 bonus for winning helped) and an average of 4.58 million viewers watched the L.A. Lakers defeat the Indiana Pacers in the NBA Cup final, the most-watched NBA regular-season game outside of Christmas Day since February 2018. It wasn't a huge hit, but the league liked what it saw enough to bring it back.

This year's tournament, now known as the Emirates NBA Cup, tips off Nov. 12 and again has group stage games on Tuesdays (TNT) and Fridays (ESPN, plus an NBA TV Black Friday tripleheader) through Dec. 3. The eight-team, single-elimination knockout round begins Dec. 10. The semifinals and finals are held at T-Mobile Arena in Las Vegas Dec. 14 and 17.

The in-season tournament idea is catching on in other sports leagues. The NHL will have the 4 Nations Face-Off event with the U.S., Canada, Finland and Sweden playing in a seven-game tournament in February. The NASCAR Cup Series 2025 schedule has a five-race competition in June and July with the winner getting a $1 million prize.

ORIGINAL SERIES

Holidazed

Available Nov. 14 (First 2 Episodes);
New Episodes Thursdays

This lighthearted dramedy is the one to watch this season as it follows six families who live in the same cul-de-sac (their drama is so different than a Knots Landing!) as they experience various challenges during the holiday season. The diverse mega cast (there were 37 cast members!) includes many familiar faces, like Dennis Haysbert (24), Erin Cahill (Power Rangers Time Force), Ian Harding (Pretty Little Liars), John C. McGinley (Scrubs), Loretta Devine (Grey's Anatomy), Lucille Soong (Fresh Off the Boat), Ser'Darius Blain (Jumanji), Rachelle Lefevre (Twilight) and Virginia Madsen (Sideways). We recently talked with several of the cast (who absolutely created their own family while taking over a real cul-de-sac on Vancouver Island for filming. They filmed in real houses!). Here's what they had to share about their own holidays:

* How do you celebrate Christmas?

Noemi Gonzalez:

My family's more like the Manetti-Hanahan family, where it's a lot of people. I have five siblings, 65 cousins. My mom is one of 13, my dad is one of 10. It's a little different in a Mexican American household, where there are a lot of kids. We all live like three blocks away from each other. It's very similar to the cul-de-sac. My aunt's house was on the same street as my grandma's. It takes forever to say goodbye to everybody. You have to say goodbye to every single one.

Lucille Soong: Christmas? I don't consider [it a] holiday. I don't have family. I always have Jewish boyfriends. My boyfriend's Jewish, and we always go to a Chinese restaurant. [But last year], there were too many people. There's only one good one in Chinatown. All the Jews got there first. We went to [get] Indian food [instead].

Ian Harding: When I was growing up, we had certain traditions.

We would decorate at this time and here's what we would eat and drink. And my dad, for some reason, I think he wanted my sister and I to have depth and gravitas. So instead of watching The Muppet Christmas Carol, every year we would watch George C. Scott's Christmas Carol. It was dark, and there are some parts that were truly scary. I'd have a nightmare every Christmas Eve. Now, my wife and I, we live back in the D.C. region where I grew up, and we are the hosts. We make all the food that we can, and then we do the tree decorating and everything. And then people come to us and it's lovely.

* What's a childhood gift you'll never forget?

Virginia Madsen: We had a lot of requests as children do, and we really wanted Skittle Pool. We wanted Skittle Pool and I wanted a dollhouse, and that was a year we got everything. ... We had a big Christmas morning in my house and a big tree, and it was not easy for us financially. ... It was very joyous in my house. I grew up loving Christmas because of that. There was no pressure either in the family, unlike the Manetti-Hanahan family, just everything sort of came together. And this is Chicago, so it was freezing and the house was warm from cooking, all the smells coming from the kitchen. ... You'd come in after being in the snow and [my mom] had cornbread or something. I just don't know how she did that. It seemed to be effortless.

Rachelle Lefevre: Optimus Prime. I'm not joking. I was a tomboy. And my parents didn't understand that Optimus Prime meant I only wanted Optimus Prime. So they went out and they bought me what they thought was a very cool looking Transformer. I could tell by the shape of the box and when I picked it up I was like, "Oh my God, it's a Transformer."

And I ripped it open. And not only was it not Optimus Prime, it was a Decepticon. And I cried because I was so mad. ... I was a real snot. I got really mad and I threw it on the floor and I was like, "It's not Optimus Prime, you bought me a Decepticon!" And so they went out when stores opened and they got me an Optimus Prime. They rewarded my bad behavior.

* Viewers can't seem to get enough of feel-good holiday programming. Why do you think that is?

Dennis Haysbert: They want what they can't have. It gives people hope. ... The love, the camaraderie, the friendships. Everything's relatable. [Holidazed] is a little bit edgier than normal.

Noemi Gonzalez: I think we love Christmas movies so much because during that time we're looking for warmth. We're looking for light, we're looking for brightness, we're looking for connection because it's cold.

Osric Chau: It's a time when everyone gets together. Everyone has different tastes, and I think Christmas movies, for the most part, are made for everyone. It's a feel-good movie that you don't have to really think about. Everyone kind of gets something out of it.

* Favorite holiday movie?

Rachelle Lefevre: Elf. I don't even have to think about it. There's a close second, though, which is White Christmas with Bing Crosby. I've seen that movie 800 times, and that was my Christmas movie before Elf came out. But then when Elf came out, because also I am a bit of a goofball, I see myself in that character a little bit. Also, because I'm from the province of Quebec, I also pour maple syrup on absolutely everything.

Dennis Haysbert: It's really funny because my favorite holiday movie is not a holiday movie — Die Hard. Also, It's a Wonderful Life. You can't beat that.

The network that has the holiday spirit nearly year-round is rounding up the sexiest Santas ever in a brilliant, on-brand talent search for its newly revamped streaming platform. "I mean, everyone comes to Hallmark because they want to see our signature hunks."

Joined by lead judge Melissa Peterman and a sleighful of stars from the network's stable of romances, the Mean Girls icon (and Hallmark hunk in his own right) oversees a mashup of Big Brother, RuPaul's Drag Race and good old-fashioned screen test as a houseful of dudes compete for a leading role in their own Hallmark movie. "They have to have star quality," continues Bennett. "That thing that makes the viewer sit up in their chair when they come onscreen. What we didn't expect is the amount of vulnerability that these guys are willing to show. We all fell in love with each of these guys." — Damian Holbrook

CRITIC PICK OF THE MONTH

Make It A Movie Night!

If you didn't see this in theaters, why not? Deadpool would like your number. If you did see it in theaters, see it again — Wolverine might stop by and cut up the room. My bad attempts at Deadpool and Wolverine humor notwithstanding, this movie is a good time, as it finds a way to bring this pair of R-rated superheroes together for a fun and adult-themed night of humor. The jokes fly at all the right moments and to even poke fun at the company that made the film surprised and endeared from the word go. Send the kids out of the room and let the adults have fun with this one.

It's my pick of the month.

Paul Hall is a nationally syndicated film critic and member of the Critics Choice Association (CCA).

Deadpool & Wolverine

(Comedy) Wade and Logan, better known as Deadpool and Wolverine, must team up to stop Deadpool's world from being destroyed. Wait, wasn't Logan dead? It's all explained in true Deadpool form in this movie that teams two iconic superheroes in their quest for survival. If they can survive each other, they just may be able to save us all. Ryan Reynolds, Hugh Jackman, Emma Corrin (R, 2:08) Premieres Nov. 26

CATCH A CLASSIC!

After a number of usually uncredited bit roles in movies starting in the early 1940s, actress Norma Roman — better known as Ruth Roman — began establishing herself as a screen presence in the late '40s. She earned a Golden Globe nomination for Most Promising Newcomer — Female (though she had been at it for six years or so already) with her performance as the wife of Kirk Douglas' lead character in the 1949 sports drama/film noir Champion, and continued in films, onstage and on television through the 1970s. The star's big-screen work will be celebrated each Tuesday night on Turner Classic Movies with lineups of her most memorable films. Champion, of course, will be featured; it airs second in tonight's initial lineup. Airing just before it and kicking things off is the TCM premiere of Belle Starr's Daughter (1948), a Western led by George Montgomery and Rod Cameron, and whose poster touted in large print that Roman costars as the title character (named Cimarron Rose) in one of her earliest major roles.
